

Jamie Wilds
Deputy Comptroller for Supervision Systems and Analytical Support

Jamie Wilds is the Deputy Comptroller for Supervision Systems and Analytical Support (SSAS) at the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency.

In this role, Mr. Wilds provides management and oversight for development and administration of supervisory systems, data, and analytics, in support of the OCC and Comptroller's priorities. Mr. Wilds partners with stakeholders to advance supervisory information systems and technology capabilities, including implementation of data science and innovative practices and solutions. He assumed these responsibilities in June 2026.

Previously, Mr. Wilds served as SSAS Supervision Support Director.

Mr. Wilds joined the agency in 2007 where he served as a Program Analyst in Large Bank Supervision supporting various enterprise system and data programs. He then transitioned from serving as a Business Intelligence & Analytics Team Leader to the SSAS Director for Supervision Support. His experience includes leading business transformation, enterprise-wide system development and operations support, and advanced technology and analytical initiatives.

Prior to joining the OCC, Mr. Wilds held private sector management and leadership positions supporting the U.S. Department of the Treasury and multiple defense and intelligence agencies.

Mr. Wilds holds a bachelor of science in decision and information systems from the University of Maryland and a master's degree in management information systems.
